Fiscal Year 2019 ANNUAL REPORT

Phil Johnson, State Director
Alternative Dispute Resolution System

BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

The Alternative Dispute Resolution System in Oklahoma is currently made up of 13 community-based Early Settlement Mediation centers and 12 programs developed by state agencies. This system which was authorized (1983) and funded (1985) by the state legislature through the Oklahoma Dispute Resolution Act, 12 O.S., § 1801 - 1813 et seq., is administered and supervised by the Administrative Director of the Courts (ADC) through her designee, the ADR System Director, with the ongoing guidance of the Dispute Resolution Advisory Board.

The Alternative Dispute Resolution System is designed to be centrally coordinated through the Administrative Office of the Courts. The purpose of the system, as stated in the Act, is "to provide to all citizens of this state convenient access to dispute resolution proceedings which are fair, effective, inexpensive, and expeditious." The Act anticipates that "such proceedings can also help alleviate the backlog of cases which burden the judicial system in this state."

DISPUTE RESOLUTION ADVISORY BOARD

To assist with the supervision of the system, a fifteen (15) member Dispute Resolution Advisory Board is appointed by the Supreme Court of Oklahoma; these members serve on a volunteer basis and receive no compensation for their services. The current members of the board are:

- Ted Roberts, Chairman, of Norman, who represents the academic community;
- Terry Winn, Vice-chairman, of Edmond, who serves as a member at large;
- David A. Cincotta of Oklahoma City, who represents the Department of Corrections;
- Phil Cotten of Norman, who represents law-enforcement;
- Honorable Lori Walkley of Norman, who represents the judiciary;
- Stan L. Foster of Oklahoma City, who represents the legal profession;
- Bonnie L. Clift of Norman, who represents social services;
- Jane F. Wheeler of Oklahoma City, who represents consumer organizations;
- Frank Turner of Oklahoma City, who serves as a member at large;
- Richard Smotherman of Oklahoma City, who represents district attorneys;
- Ray Vaughn of Edmond, who represents local government;
- Mike Cotrill of Tulsa, who represents business organizations;
- Shirley Ann Cox of Oklahoma City, who represents state government;
- Bobbie Burbridge Lane of Oklahoma City, who serves as a member at large;
- Jane McConnell of Norman, who represents retired citizen organizations;
- Jari Askins, Administrative Director of the Courts who serves as an ex officio member.

EARLY SETTLEMENT MEDIATION CENTERS

FUNDING

The Alternative Dispute Resolution System is funded by a $7.00 fee on every civil case filing in Oklahoma District Courts – approximating $1.5 million per year. In addition to this funding, each local sponsor provides staff supervision, office space, bookkeeping and other indirect services. The sponsoring agencies do not receive any in-kind funding for hosting an Early Settlement program.

SERVICES OFFERED

The Alternative Dispute Resolution System provides services and encourages the use of mediation through these specialized components and applications.

- Civil Mediation Program
Services provided for court cases and other disputes involving civil matters such as money, property, and real estate.
- Adjunct Settlement Program
Part of the Early Settlement- Tulsa program
Local attorneys conduct settlement conferences for cases pending trial in district court on a volunteer basis.
- PROS (Peaceful Resolutions for Oklahoma Students)
Training program for public school administrators, counselors, and teachers to teach peer mediation skills to students; provides training, curriculum, and implementation materials at no cost to the schools.
- Family and Divorce Mediation
Services are provided to families going through divorce and/or custody disputes.
- Community Dispute Resolution Program
Addresses community disputes and those that are pending trial in local city courts.
- Adult Guardianship Mediation Program
Offers services to families undergoing issues concerning the guardianship of an adult family member.
- Child Permanency Mediation
Assists in establishing a plan for the permanent placement of deprived children who are in the custody of the Department of Human Services.
- Oklahoma Charter Schools
Services are provided for parties to disputes that may arise from the Oklahoma Charter Schools Act; currently only applies to residents of Oklahoma, Tulsa, and Washington counties.

VOLUNTEER MEDIATORS

The mediations are conducted by carefully selected, trained, and experienced state-certified mediators who donate their time as volunteers. Mediator candidates for the programs are required to complete specialized training provided by the Alternative Dispute Resolution System and complete an experience-based practicum provided under the authority of the Administrative Director of the Courts in order to achieve certification. The Administrative Director of the Courts must certify both the trainers and the curriculum for the training. There are approximately 350 active volunteer mediators statewide.
